GSI Annual Journal 2022 Published

Paula Jones, MGSI, Deputy General Secretary and Chair of the JGSI 2022 Select Committee, delivered the report on the production of the Annual Journal, now in its thirtieth year, to the Board at its meeting on Thursday October 6th 2022.

The Board was hugely impressed by the work of the Select Committee (Paula Jones, Laura Price, Aideen Feerick and Gerard Corcoran) and very warmly congratulated the Chair and Members of the Select Committee for the production of such a high quality GSI Annual Journal for 2022.

A total of eleven Zoom meetings were held between May and September to firstly, set out the criteria for the articles and then to source articles and finally, to consider each for publication. The standard of the articles submitted was consistently high and they covered a wide range of topics.

In her report, Paula Jones recommended that the Select Committee approach to the production of the Journal be continued for next year.

The Select Committee Report urged the Society's own Members to make greater use of the publication facility to record their family history or the findings of their own research areas.

In the introduction to this edition, Paula Jones, outlines some of the articles in this 100 page Journal including one by Laura Price who made a wonderful discovery in the minute books of the Directors General of Inland Navigation, 1805.

Mary Rose O'Shea gives provides a masterclass in investigative genealogy researching those named on a postcard found in a relative's collection.

Joe Mooney in his article on the Military Service Pensions Collection shows how research in the Irish Military Archives uncovered unknown facts that impacted two families in the East Wall area of Dublin city at the time of the Civil War, 1922.

Charles Egan in his article on the origins of the MacEgan family demonstrates the genealogical importance of letters from our ancestors in detailing family lines. South African genealogist, Matthew Bode shares his research of his Houston roots in Monaghan, using DNA to corroborate his detective work.

Dr. Noel Cox reflects on the legal validity of grants of arms by the Chief Herald of Ireland and the urgent need to amend the National Cultural Institutions Act, 1997. A position accepted by government since 2007.

From a social history point of view, Paula's own articles examine ethnographic studies that took place in the west of Ireland in the late 19th century and the value they offer from a genealogical perspective as well the emigrant experience compared to those who stayed behind during the Forgotten Famine of 1879.

The GSI Annual Journal 2022 will be despatched electronically to all fully paid-up Members in Ireland and around the world.

Copies will be sent to Copyright Libraries in Ireland and the UK and, of course, to those overseas societies participating in the 'Journal Exchange Programme'. Copies will be on sale on the GSI website.

DEANSGRANGE CEMETERY

This Society has taken a special interest in Deansgrange Cemetery since our foundation in 1990. We recorded and published the memorial inscriptions in many sections of this very big cemetery in Blackrock, Co. Dublin.

The cemetery was opened in January 1865 following the order to close the sprawling Kill O' The Grange Cemetery which had served the local community for centuries. Only a remnant of that century exists within the walls surrounding St. Fintan's Church, however, it covered a much larger area. The Proclamation signed by the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland closing the cemetery, in accordance with the Burial Grounds (Ireland) Act, 1856, directed that a new cemetery be provided at Deansgrange. Interestingly the 1856 Act stipulated that each burial ground be sufficiently fenced etc.

Concern has been expressed by some Members regarding plans by Dún Laoghaire Rathdown County Council to provide a cycle-way through Deansgrange Cemetery and thus, for the first time in its history, have the cemetery publicly accessible 24/7 where previously it was locked at night.

Here is an extract from the Council's invitation to participate in a public consultation process which closes on October 20th 2022.

The Council's main aim of the active school travel scheme is to provide students and parents with safe, direct, and comfortable walking and cycling routes to schools. The project aims to also provide an alternative for families who do not or cannot drive, may not be able to avail of public transport or wish to travel to school on foot or by bike. The plan can help avoid traffic congestion at school entrances, as well as encourage a shift away from the use of the private car, particularly for short journeys up to approximately 4 km in length.

Three routes have been proposed, however, only the one through Deansgrange Cemetery is highlighted here for the others see the Council's website.

Park to Park: "will link north to south across the county. Starting at the coast at Blackrock Dart Station and then joining the existing pathways in Rockfield Park. From there it will continue south along Deansgrange Road linking to the Loughinstown to Deansgrange Greenway and ending by linking south to the coast."

OBJECTIVES OF THE SCHEME

- Improve the pedestrian and cycling environment within Deansgrange and provide a key connection link that will cater for school and commuting travel demand as well as recreational demand use;
- Provide a safer environment for all road users;
- Promote sustainable transport;
- The scheme proposes to deliver a high-quality, safe walking and cycling route that will meet the current demand within the Deansgrange area.
- This scheme provides a key connection between the "Park to Park" Route and the "Mountains to Metals" Route proposed as part of the overall Active School Travel Project.

• A new pedestrian crossing at the entrance to the park is proposed. Along Deansgrange Road segregated cycle facilities, new pedestrian crossing facilities and indented parking is proposed. A section of the route enters Deansgrange Cemetery via a new entrance and continues along existing paths.

- Public lighting and other upgrade works are proposed within the cemetery in addition to altering the existing entrances.
- It is also proposed to alter the boundary wall of the cemetery.

The Council is seeking views from the public to help inform the scheme design via its Public Consultation Hub—see <http://www.dlrcco.ie>

Observations should be clearly marked 'Deansgrange Cycle Route Scheme'

The closing date for the receipt of submissions on this proposal is Thursday 20th October 2022.

NEXT YEAR'S JOURNAL

Members and readers wishing to submit items for publication in the 2023 issue of the GSI Annual Journal are advised to make contact with the Select Committee.

The Select Committee will advise on the word count, format and the procedures regarding any images accompanying the article.

We'll All Stay Connected Each Week via Zoom

Ancestors in the "Poteen Hussars"?

We just noticed that one of the books on Irish policing by Jim Herlihy, FGSJ (Fellow of the Society), is now available at a special sale price and, as always, books by our own Members deserve a special plug for time to time. Jim is the recognised authority on the history of policing in Ireland.

'The Irish Revenue Police – A short history and genealogical guide to the 'Poteen Hussars' by Jim Herlihy and published by Four Courts Press in April 2018. ISBN: 978-1-84682-702-0 : 260pp : P/bk : ills : Catalogue price: €9.95 : Sale Price: €8.95.

In the period 1832 to 1857, some 4,000 men served in the Irish Revenue Police, working to suppress illicit distillation. In this book, Jim Herlihy shows how to find information on them, providing an excellent resource for those interested in the history of the force, and of the period.

A chapter on the history and origin of the Irish Revenue Police and its predecessor forces engaged in 'still-hunting' is followed by one describing what a career in the Revenue Police might have been like, another on tracing your ancestors in the IRP, and a short memoir by Lieutenant Matthew Power (1820–84).

All this is followed by an extensive series of appendices filled with detailed information on the Irish Revenue Police and those who served in it, from the force's rank structure, to the distribution across Ireland of its divisions, stations and parties. The centrepiece of this is a complete list of every man who served in the IRP from 1830 to 1857.

There is also information on what happened to the Irish Revenue Police after the force was disbanded in 1857, including the gratuities many were given, and lists of those who went on to join the Royal Irish Constabulary, the Dublin Metropolitan Police and the Londonderry Borough Police.

Jim Herlihy, a retired member of the Garda Síochána, and a co-founder of the Garda Síochána Historical Society and a Fellow of the Genealogical Society of Ireland, has worked on these sources for many years. His many publications include The Royal Irish Constabulary: a short history and genealogical guide (2016) and Royal Irish Constabulary officers: a biographical dictionary and genealogical guide, 1816–1922 (2005).

Editor: As advised last month, it is always worth regularly checking out the websites of the various academic publishers in Ireland, especially Four Courts Press, for offers and information on re-prints. As these are specialist publications with sometimes limited print-runs, it is important to keep an eye out for the ones of particular interest to the genealogist and local historians. Remember the title of the work may not always adequately indicate its content or the geographic locations concerned. A look through the listings on the website is always a rewarding experience and better still with a sale price.

GSI BOARD NEWS

The Board of Directors held its monthly meeting on Thursday October 6th 2022 at 11.00hrs via Zoom.

The General Secretary advised the Board on the College of Fellows and that the review by Barry O'Connor of the Fellows Electoral Roll is almost complete. When complete the election of the Board's five nominees to the College of Fellows agreed under Res: 22/09/1686 will proceed, hopefully, this year.

Lua Ó Scolaí advised the Board that our banking facilities will be moved from Ulster Bank to Allied Irish Bank before the end of this year.

Lua Ó Scolaí, Paula Jones and Gerard Corcoran will nominate three Members to be Trustees of An Daonchartlann Foundation (ADF) and will present these nominations in November for approval.

Paula Jones, presented the report of the Journal Select Committee to the Board and circulated copies of the JGSI 2022. The Board was hugely impressed by the quality of the publication and the high standard of the articles received from Ireland and overseas.

Now in its thirtieth year of production, the Society's Annual Journal is one of the cornerstones of our endeavours to promote an awareness, appreciation and knowledge of our genealogical, heraldic and vexillological heritages.

Gerard Corcoran and Laura Price advised the Board on the ongoing work to have all of the Society's journals digitised and made freely available to our Members in a special area of the Society's website. They also outlined the plans to digitise the "Laois Papers" and the challenges posed by such an enormous project.

Eddie Gahan advised the Board of his ongoing cooperation with the Active Retirement Groups and plans to recommence the attendance at shows and events throughout Ireland which were suspended due to Covid-19.

Laura Price and Shane Wilson gave updates on the ongoing preparatory work required to facilitate the launch and operation of the 'National Heraldic Survey' project. This project will be the first of its kind in Ireland and aims to provide data on the use of heraldry and its significance throughout the island of Ireland.

The following matters were deferred: (1) Whether to resume the in-person Open Meetings each month from January 2023 now that Covid-19 restrictions have been lifted; and (2) Opening days and times for An Daonchartlann from January 2023. It decided to place these matters on the Agenda for the Board meeting on November 3rd 2022 and consider these items under the Annual Review of the Membership Package.

REVIEWS

'Ireland's Special Branch - The inside story of their battle with the IRA and other groups 1922-1947' by Gerard Lovett, published by Wordwell Books, ISBN: 978-1-913934-29-3.

'A gang of police thugs' and 'Renegades and perverted types' were two of the many ways in which the men and women of the Garda Special Branch were described by their enemies within the anti-Treaty IRA and what follows in this work is the gripping narrative of the often brutal and violent struggle for supremacy that took place between these two sides. This book explores the foundation and the inner workings of a squad of detectives, initially called the Criminal Investigation Department (CID), based in Oriel House, Dublin, in August 1922 and their transition into what became known as the Special Branch. It further details the history of the turbulent decades which followed, and the regular confrontations with the IRA in which many of their officers would make the ultimate sacrifice.

Author Gerard Lovett is a retired member of An Garda Síochána who retired as a detective inspector in the Garda Special Branch in 2004. Since then, he was general secretary of the Garda Síochána Retired Members' Association for seven years and was editor of their quarterly magazine Síocháin. He has written numerous articles on police history and has regularly given lectures to historical societies on both garda and RIC history, as well as famous historical murder cases.

PRÉCIS OF THE SEPTEMBER LECTURE

Gerard O'Meara joined us on the 13th September 2022 to talk to us about the research he conducted while writing his book, 'Lorrha People in the Great War'.

Providing background to Lorrha, Tipperary, Gerard's talk featured the background of those from Lorrha who fought in the Great War including Lt. Cecil Kenny Kilcarron and Lt. Cornelius 'Con' Deane MC as well as the homecoming of Private Martin O'Meara's Victoria Cross on 13th August last. Private O'Meara was a native of Lissernane, Lorrha and emigrated to Australia in 1911. Of note was the story of Mary 'Molly' O'Connell Bianconi who was in the Ambulance Corps in France and was awarded the Military Medal for bravery.

Despite having a reputation as a Republican parish, Gerard was surprised at the numbers of Lorrha men who fought in the Great War and his research highlighted the connections between some of the families. He went on to describe how he came across a headstone for the Byrne family that led him to find out about George Johnston Byrne who, having emigrated to New Zealand, fought as part of the Auckland Regiment and was killed in action in September 1918, leaving his three young sons as orphans. This research led to another connection to Francis DeGroot who infamously declared open the Sydney Harbour Bridge. Gerard also provided us with background to the Corcoran family including Sir John Arthur Corcoran, the Assistant Undersecretary of State for War as well as how DNA connections were established between his family and the Society's own Gerard Corcoran.

From meetings with relatives of the soldiers, visits to local libraries and engaging professional researchers, Gerard outlined how using a variety of sources provided him with a wealth of information that enabled him to write his book.

Our Society is a Registered Charity

During the disruption caused by the Covid-19 pandemic, many charities in Ireland and overseas are finding it difficult with reduced funding streams. This Society is funded largely by its Membership Fees and the kind donations received from Members and friends at home and overseas, without which, it simply couldn't exist.

The Society is a Registered Charity in Ireland and always considers options for fund raising and grant applications. The possibility of crowdfunding for specific projects is being considered. However, in the meantime it was decided to appeal to our Members, friends and social media followers around the world.

Donations can be made via the Society's website or by cheque to the Genealogical Society of Ireland and forwarded to the General Secretary: 11, Desmond Avenue, Dún Laoghaire, Co. Dublin, Ireland, A96 AD76.

If you have already donated—Many Thanks!

Although we're not members of the National Union of Journalists (NUJ), the team at the "Gazette" always endeavour to operate in accordance with the NUJ Code of Conduct www.nuj.org.uk/about/nuj-code/ and in line with the 'National Policy Statement on Ensuring Research Integrity in Ireland' which was endorsed by the Genealogical Society of Ireland back in June 2014 soon after its launch at the Royal Irish Academy.
